Yugoslavia, Greece Will Fall To Germany, Eddy Predicts

Author Says U. S.
Must Help Build
Democratic Union

The United States must help build a world federation of democracies, based on liberty, justice, economic security and the brotherhood of man, Dr. Sherwood Eddy, renowned author, lecturer, and world traveler, told an audience of 300 last night in Memorial hall.

The United States cannot adopt its "hit and run" methods of the last war but, in efforts to build a lasting peace, it must demand four promises from England in exchange for the aid given that country, he stated. These promises are that England (1) would stand by in any plan for a federation; (2) would never again support a totalitarian state as was the case when Japan invaded China; (3) would permit the close cooperation of the two democracies; and (4) would permit adequate privileges to its own colonies and permit open trade with them.

Other countries likewise have plans for a new world, Dr. Eddy opined. "Germany's program is based on the will to power and a corpora-stone idea of a super race," he said. Russia has a plan too, a plan containing the seeds of a great hope however, the violence and atheism of their creed and the corruption brought in by Stalin has made it impossible that Russia can found a world in which people would care to live, he added.

Yugoslavia and Greece will fall, he predicted, and then Hitler will have two alternatives. He can conquer the Near East with its vast oilfields or invade the Ukraine with its bountiful natural resources.

"If he attempts to take the Near East he will have to face Turkey-Turkey will fight fiercely. If he takes the Ukraine and invades Russia, he can do it easily, but it might be the beginning of the end for Hitler as it was for Napoleon," he declared.

Russia will not fight Germany unless forced to do so, he said, because the Soviet army has been too weakened by purges, and "Stalin has made Russia a slaughterhouse."

The lend-lease bill was necessary for two reasons, he declared. England is not only our first line of defense but our last line of defense in this "world of perishing democra-

BASEBALL DEBUT WITH GA. TECH SET FOR TODAY

Moseley Promises
Two Good Games
With Engineers

At 3 p.m. today the horsheld and hickory crew of Coach Frank Moseley will again attempt their 1941 debut. This time the hard-hitting Engineers of Georgia Tech will be their diamond opponents.

In spite of the shortage of practice Moseley is cheerful and even optimistic concerning the possibilities of victory in this two-game series. "If we are beaten there will be no excuses; we do promise them two good games."

As a whole the team has come along remarkably fast this spring. Moseley has been holding one hour practice sessions each day for about a month. Less than half of the squad took part in these workouts, however, so the squad as a whole lacks training.

Predicting a good season for the University team, Coach Moseley stated that it appeared to be much better than last year's. Most of the old men are back and in addition to this he has some brilliant sophomore prospects. Two sophomores are certain to start, Tico and Cutchin. Jim Mathewson, a new man, may also be a starter Moseley said.

"College baseball is definitely on the upswing here as is the case in most other schools. I believe that good baseball teams help persuade athletes to come to the University," Moseley stated.

He fears that some men get a false idea concerning the baseball team. New men come out and practice for two or three days, he said, and then, receiving little attention from him, drop out. "I am sorry that they get that feeling, because we want them out there. I have such little time to get the team ready for our opening game that I can not give them the attention that they deserve. What I am interested in is getting men out here that do not participate in any other sport here at the University. I know that there are a lot of good ball players here in school and these are the men I am interested in."

Moseley pointed out that he will be able to give all new men lots of attention this next week and that he would like for all boys who play baseball and really like to play the game to come out Monday. "Every one of the nine positions on this team is wide open; I want the best men I can get for them." Moseley said that he hoped that he had not offended any of the boys who had come out and been neglected by him. He has been trying to get nine men ready for the opening game and had little time to work with new candidates.

Georgia Tech, with two victories already, has two good pitchers in Jimmy Burpo and Pluto Oliver. Burpo is also the leading hitter on the squad.

For today's game he announced the following lineup arranged in probable batting order: Navarre, third base; Shepherd, second base; Cutchin, shortstop; Martin, left field; Tico, first base; Willoughby, right field; Mullins, center field; Fritz, catcher; Staker, pitcher. Mathewson may start in place of Shepherd at second.

C. VANDERBILT TO APPEAR HERE TOMORROW

Author Uncovered
Foreign Activities
In South America

Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., world renowned lecturer, author, and sportsman, will speak under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Central Kentucky at 8 p. m., Saturday, at Memorial hall, Miss Chloe Gifford, president of the club, announced yesterday. Vanderbilt who was scheduled to speak last Saturday, did not appear because of illness.

University students will be admitted at a special rate of 50 cents. Miss Gifford said. Adult tickets will be 75 cents, and will be on sale only at the door tomorrow night.

Vanderbilt, one of America's young cosmopolitan intellectuals whose every day life is full of adventure and the unusual, has spent the past six months traveling in Mexico, Central America, South America, and the Caribbean. This recent trip resulted in a number of revelations of foreign activity in these countries. Many of these facts have been submitted to the federal government.

Prior to the outbreak of the present war, Vanderbilt spent a year in Europe interviewing principal political figures. Having always had ready access to contemporary history-makers, his recent interviews added considerably to an already large international acquaintance.

Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, chairman of the international relations committee, will introduce the speaker. Miss Gifford will preside.

COL. JAMES H. GRAHAM

In behalf of national defense, he has been called to Washington to work in the construction division of the War department.

ARMY ORDERS COL. GRAHAM TO WASHINGTON

Freeman Named
Engineering Head
In Dean's Absence

Col. James H. Graham, dean of the College of Engineering, has been granted a three month's leave of absence from the University for duty in the construction division of the war department. Colonel Graham will leave early next week for Washington.

During his absence Prof. W. E. Freeman, assistant dean of the engineering college will be in charge of the department. Graham succeeded the late F. Paul Anderson who died in April, 1934.

Colonel Graham, who came to the University in 1935, will work under Gen. Behron Semervel, with whom he served in France during the World War. He recalled yesterday that during the World War as a colonel of engineers with the American Expeditionary Forces, he frequently saw General Somervel, who was then a major.

Praised by Officials

During the past few months Colonel Graham has made frequent trips to the capital to confer with war department officials relative to courses now installed in the University for training men in defense industries. Colonel Graham was praised by federal leaders for his activity in locating the Wenner-Gren aeronautical engine testing laboratory here.

Colonel Graham received his BS degree in Civil Engineering from the University in 1900. Up to the time of the World War he was engaged in the engineering profession, ranging from railway location and construction, boring and concrete lining of tunnels, coal and metal mining, work with ore smelting, construction of earth and concrete dams, and general contracting.

Won Service Medal

In June 1917, he entered the war as a captain in the Corps of Engineers. During the war, he created four separate and distinct organizations within the American Expeditionary Forces. After the Armistice, Colonel Graham, in connection with the Corps of Engineers, organized and supervised the repair of over 17,000 miles of highway in France and in occupied Germany.

He was awarded the distinguished Service Medal by the United States for "meritorious and distinguished services in positions of great responsibility." He was also given the rank of Officer in the Legion of Honor by the French government.

Colonel Graham is a former president of the Indian Refining company, and is an author as well as an engineer. In 1934, his book, "Joseph, the Husband of Mary," was published.

Guignol Will 'Go Hollywood' In Finale, 'The Male Animal'

By JIM WOOLDRIDGE

The Guignol will go Hollywood with "The Male Animal," last play of the season, which opens April 21. Just like the motion pictures, the introduction of James Thurber's college comedy will include the statement:

"Any similarity of characters depicted in this play to actual University of Kentucky persons, living or dead, is purely coincidental."

For "The Male Animal" has characters which are found on almost every American campus today and the resemblance to certain students or faculty members might be construed as inferential libel, despite the playwright's good intentions at comedy. Miss Frances Bouton, Guignol business manager, said yesterday.

College 'Cards' Satirized

Typical of the college "cards" satirized in "The Male Animal" is adjective-wielding Dean Damon, head of the mythical college's English department, who insists on prosecuting what he terms "false ideals." Claude Trapp, University sophomore, plays this role.

Monday Night's Mass Meeting

Last night a special Student Government committee was appointed to plan and direct a campus-wide mass meeting to discuss the implications of the University reorganization plan recently adopted by the Board of Trustees.

THE KERNEL is in agreement with the action, and pledges its support to the meeting.

We are supporting it because we believe the students have a direct and personal interest in the measure. This interest we believe to be threefold:

First, all matters of curricula are to be taken from a parliamentary body and placed in the hands of a dozen men. We want to know what effect this is going to have on us.

Second, the granting of degrees is to be taken from the faculty at large and placed in the hands of a few. We want to know the implications of this too.

New Plan Could Curtail Freedom

By SCOTT D. BRECKINRIDGE

Those who support or rationalize the reorganization schemes rely upon one argument—"efficiency." But no one denies the efficiency possible under this new step that abolishes parliamentary bickering. If efficiency is the sole purpose it can be achieved. But to achieve the results claimed we sacrifice definitive faculty participation. It is replaced by arbitrary decisions of administrators.

Though this is the only way the results claimed; can be achieved it is not the method mentioned in argument. Visions are conjured of meetings leading up to the recommendations to the new super-board. This would seem to leave the new body no duty but to act in efficient approval.

In cases of conflict it will be necessary to refer these questions back to sub-meetings for endless rediscussions. Eventually new recommendations could again be made to the super-board. This obviously is a confusion of administrative activity.

The old system of the Senate brought all parties into one meeting place for the settlement of such problems. So, the arbitrary type of efficiency mentioned above will be found necessary for the success of the new system. Thus, we find democratic processes sacrificed for what promises no better results.

To support the opinion of this immature collegian I cite "Institution-Faculty Relations in the College of Integrity" by Bixler (1939). He says, "Efficiency in the administration of education has meaning only as it relates to the inclusive aim of education. If the inclusive aim is the democratic way of life, then the greatest efficiency can be achieved by the practice of democracy in the college."

May I ask the Board of Trustees, what is our aim?

Tolerance and Freedom in education is essential to democracy. In the coming period of crisis and tension these essentials will be endangered. If we speak of democracy being threatened we must realize that the existence of these essentials is proof that there actually is a democracy to threaten.

Under the new scheme these essentials are easily curtailed. Faculty control of policy is the main way of protecting these essentials. Again, if for no other reason than a part in policy decision such faculty participation is important.

"The Internal Administration of the Liberal Arts College" by Kinder (1934) states "A survey of the general faculty meetings held in the 116 colleges of this survey brings out the fact that the presidents of the colleges are of the opinion that the faculty meetings are valuable, feasible and even indispensable."

UK AUTHORITIES APPROVED

As recently as 1936 our own authorities went on record in "University of Kentucky, Organization of Board of Trustees, Conduct of Business Matters Governing Regulation of the University." It says, "In accordance with the experience and practice of this and other institutions of similar character, the Board entrusts the execution of all its plans and policies, together with the internal government and administration of the institution of the President and the Senate, and other officers it may select."

I am sure there has been no appreciable change in conditions since then, except more active participation by the Senate—to the displeasure of some. In fact, criticism of the Senate is a weed that sprang up overnight with the new scheme.

Though student activity in protest is increasing, it cannot be enough. The students know that the faculty is not enthusiastic over the new scheme. We appreciate the difficult position of the faculty, but believe that the united action of that group will deny any individual retaliation. As professional educators their opinion is more important than that of amateurs.

As a student of the University and a citizen of the State of Kentucky, I feel we should know the faculty's favor or displeasure. Equivocation is not an answer. If the new system

Students Protest Abolition Of The University Senate

To the Editor of the Kernel:

The recent action of the Board of Trustees is completely incomprehensible to the student vitally affected by such rash, totalitarian, dictatorial action.

Every day in various ways we are made aware of the sacrifices that must be made for democracy. We are virtually the only democratic country left with much degree of freedom, able to stand against the destroyers of democratic civilization. The university should epitomize the very best in democracy.

But how can a university uphold democracy when it is institutionalized in such an undemocratic fashion? How can democracy exist in spirit, and not in form? It is an impossibility.

The Board was intolerant of that "dissention and continual wrangling which went on in the Senate." Would the Board dissolve the United States Senate on the same grounds? Discussion is healthy and vital to any organization, and without it very little is achieved.

We could make comparisons between the institutions of Germany and those institutions under such a regime as this, but we hesitate to do so, because of the hope that there will be some changes made, and some clarification of the new order.

We are optimists and do not believe yet that this plan will really be executed. We do not consider ourselves a "loud minority group who is installed, even though it proves unsatisfactory it will not be displaced. Then it will be too late.

If the faculty is to justify the trust I would place in them for determining University policies, they should express some positive opinion now. I hope they can see their way clear to express some support of the student movement. Private opinion is not the type needed, it must be for the public.

Most embarrassing situation of the week: ZTA Sara K. Fisher, the gal who wrote two home-town boys letters and placed them in wrong envelopes, now has additional troubles—two out-of-town flames are arriving on the same day to see this popular phenomenon.

Mary Frances Hatfield and Jack Boston, those two attractive people who have been trying for weeks to get together, finally have a date Sunday night. Hooray!

Chlo Bobbette Lyons has tossed Sigma Nu Ed Konopka's fraternity jewelry back and they both seem extremely happy over their present state of freedom.

Kappa Janet Rocas is sticking to the army these days by dating a young lieutenant from Fort Knox every weekend.

Alpha Gam Heath "Activity Girl" Tinley, who even attends SuKy meetings by mistake, has been seen frequently with KA Joe Logan Masie.

Triangle Dan Sabo, of loud shirt fame, has been wearing more conservative chest coverings since he's been going with "Best-dressed girl" Caroline Conant.

Leila Moran became the "girl of the hour" when Dr. Funkhouser interrupted a class to permit her to go outside and see her Charlie from Pennsylvania.

It has been reported that Phi Delt John Courtney has been hiding behind trees in the Alpha Gam front yard to check on his competition with Betty Mitchell. Shame on you Johnny!

Our vote for one of the most attractive men on the campus goes to Phi Gam Bob Myers, who transferred here from W. & L. to be near his "one a.d. only" at Transy.

Seen around: Phi Tau John Boles still carrying the torch for Tri Delt Jean Elliott; Sigma Chi Benny Owen worrying over being conscripted this week; ATO L. T. Iglehart twitting over Jo Moberly; Liga Bell Howe turning Clark Wood into a religious man.

Kappa Sig Don Bennett stepping back into the affections of Lulagene Johnson; Jack Thoman, "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Alpha Sig" keeping the trail hot over the Chi Omega house to see Anna Ruth Burton; Alpha Gam Carolyn Petrie, dating a certain columnist; and Kappa Sara Ewing hiking with Delt Bob Scott.

Running Wild

By JOHN CARRICO

The baseball team will make its delayed debut this afternoon against Georgia Tech (barring more of that California sunshine). Moseley's boys were all set for Illinois college last Saturday on the K-Day program, but Jupiter Pluvius' plumbing sprang a leak and the boys had to be content to look wistfully at the football game and sigh for what was not to be.

This time, though, Mose is determined to see his crew launched into the conference baseball whirl and it's probable that neither hell nor high water will stop him. So even if it's pouring, Myrtle, just float a boat and come on over!

The weather-man says, however, that we'll probably have a what's-so-rare-as, so you needn't bother to dig out the oilskins when you head for the Wildcat ball orchard.

The Wildcat team should have been at its best this season. Only one regular, Wilce Carnes, graduated and most of the men now had two seasons of competition under their belts. However, the shortstop and the first baseman of last year's team are not numbered in the present aggregation. Fortunately, Moseley has two promising newcomers to rely on at these positions.

Among the veterans are outfielders Charley Martin, Ike Willoughby, Ray Graviss, Johnny Kurachek, and Link Ellington (when he isn't pitching); infielders Joe Shepherd, and Nolan Navarre; catcher Eddie Fritz, and pitchers Carl Staker, Bill McCubbin, Allan Rathbun, and Ellington.

Willoughby, Martin, and Kurachek or Mullins will probably make the outfield. Graviss and Ellington will fill in and either may merit a starting berth. All of these men are fair hitters and patrol their sectors capably.

The infield will be Moseley's prime headache. Milt Ticco will cover the initial sack. Shepherd will hold forth at the keystone. Phil Cutchin will cover short, and Nolan Navarre will be at third. Ticco and Cutchin are rookies fresh from the Wildcat Kitten farm. Both boys are able fielders and pack a wallop at the plate. Moseley should have no worries about these two spots after mid-season and probably before. Shepherd and Navarre, the gray-heads in the green of the infield, have played two seasons for the Blue and White. In practice sessions both men have had a little difficulty in fielding, but this wrinkle should be ironed out in a few games.

Catching duties will fall to Eddie Fritz and Bob Herbert. Fritz is a dependable receiver and a fair hitter. His throw isn't as fast or as accurate as Herbert's. Herbert has a very strong arm and is known as a power hitter; he lacks the judgment and experience of Fritz, however.

Now to the question mark on any baseball team—the pitching staff. Well, brother, your guess is as good as ours. From out our way it looks as if Carl Staker will be the prima donna of the Wildcat mound corps. Staker has been foggin' 'em in in practice and he looks ready to go. Bill McCubbin, a southpaw, claims a curve that would put Hedy to shame; however, we'll go out on a limb and predict that Mac won't win twenty-five games this year. Seriously though, McCubbin will probably be No. 2 man in the flinging division.

Allan Rathbun is thought of very highly by Wildcat baseball fans. He has a nice curve that makes batters wonder what happened to it. He pitched in several games last year and this experience should help him considerably. Vince Splane, another portside, and Link Ellington complete the pitching staff. Vince is in his first varsity season and has yet to make his mark. Link has been pitching off and on for two years

UK RACQUETEERS TO OPEN SEASON

Opening Meet Monday, Here

Kentucky's 1941 edition of the Wildcat "racqueteers" inaugurate an ambitious 14 game tennis schedule next Monday when they take on Depauw university in the six singles and three doubles matches at 2 p.m. on the UK courts.

Their practice hampered by inclement weather, but boasting a strong crew of veterans from last year's squad, the UK men will enter the match with more than an even chance of winning this opening event.

Dr. H. H. Downing who is entering his twentieth year as tennis coach, said yesterday that he has ten good men from which to choose his squad.

Three Men Lost

Only three men were lost from last year's team that won six and lost six. Captain Bubby Boone and Sonny Boland went the graduation route, while Joe Dunlap did not report for practice this year.

Lee Huber, No. 1 ranking player last year, will be in the same spot this year, with Dave Ragland, Frank Miller, Omar Ratliff, Billy Hedges, and Robert Garret the rest of the singles players. Miller was ineligible last year because he hadn't completed a semester at the university and did not compete in any games.

The doubles teams will be made up of Heinz Seelbach, Tom Harris, Grant Lewis, and Marshall Smith with two men from the singles ranks also entering one of these events.

The complete schedule is as follows:

April 14	Depauw	Lexington
April 16	Tennessee	Knoxville
April 17	Georgia Tech	Atlanta
April 18	Sewanee	Sewanee
April 19	Vanderbilt	Nashville
April 21	Western	Bowling Green
April 24	Spring Hill	Lexington
May 1	Tennessee	Lexington
May 2	Wayne U.	Lexington
May 3	Notre Dame	Lexington
May 8-10	Southern C.T.T.	Nashville
May 12	Cincinnati	Cincinnati
May 17	Michigan State	Lexington
May 21	Berea	Lexington
May 24	Clarksville Indpts.	Lexington

LESS NICOTINE in the smoke! Yes, science has confirmed this important advantage in Camel cigarettes... traced it right down to you by measuring the smoke itself. Obviously, it's the smoke you smoke.

Camel's costlier tobaccos are matchlessly blended into a slower-burning cigarette. That means no excess heat to flatten delicate flavor... freedom from harsh, irritating qualities of too-fast burning. Extra mildness, extra coolness, extra flavor—and less nicotine in the smoke!

So—make that switch to Camels today. Dealers everywhere feature Camel cigarettes in cartons. For economy—for convenience—buy your Camels in cartons.
